ABSTRACT: This article investigates the relationship of emotional intelligence and leadership style in middle managers. It evaluates the extent to which emotional intelligence influences leadership style in the media sector. The study reveals that emotional intelligence plays a crucial role in shaping leadership style, with Transformational-oriented style being explained by empathy; and Pragmatic style explained by self-awareness and empathy.

Keywords: Emotional Intelligence, leadership style, Middle Manager
Internationalization of higher education curricula across the world

Original Research, C2

Behjat Ardakani, F and Araghieh A,

ABSTRACT: Today the subject of internationalization of higher education has been accompanied with the issues such as rapid changes, globalization, technological innovations, and the need for skills and activities and methods of teaching and learning) in countries like the United States, America, Finland, and Japan.

Keywords: Internationalization, Higher Education, curricula, comparative study
Family Communication dimensions, Separation-Individuation and Imaginary Audience in Iranian Adolescents

Original Research, C3

Jowkar B., Rahimi M., Zare M. and Barzegar Bafrooei K.

ABSTRACT: Adolescents

Keywords: Conversation, Conformity, Separation-Individuation
Evaluation of Relationship between Personality Traits and General Health of High School Students

Original Research, C4

Zarei, E. Zeinalipour H. Tayebi sough M. Adli M. and Tayebi sough A.

ABSTRACT: The current research has been performed due to evaluation of ties of personality traits and general health. 205 students were selected and 10 personality traits including extraversion, openness (flexibility), agreeableness, conscientiousness and neuroticism were evaluated. The results revealed a negative relationship (p < 0.05) between Neuroticism and general health of students. Neuroticism predicts 0.452% of variance of general health.

Keywords: Personality Traits, General Health, Female Students
Network Policy Making: A Necessity for Today’s Organizations

Original Research, C5

Kamel M. Alvani S.M. and Mohammadi Moghadam Y.

ABSTRACT: The highly changeable and inconstant conditions of organizational environments, including public and private sectors, require an adjustment in the way decisions are made. As it is known, decision making is an essential key for the development and success of any organization. This study emphasizes the importance of policy making in the form of networks, as a necessary strategy for better decision making. In this regard, the study aims to present and provide a number of theoretical and applied suggestions for organizations in order to develop a network policy, which is placed within the main themes of Social Capital. The topics discussed in the study include the definition and characteristics of network policy, the role of social capital in the development of network policy, the process of network policy making, and finally provided theoretical and applied suggestions in order to prepare organizations for progressing in this direction.

Keywords: Policy making, Decision making, Network structure, Social capital