The Effects of Anger Management Skills Training on Aggression, Social Adjustment, and Mental Health

Original Research, C28

Entesar Foumany GH. and Salehi J.

ABSTRACT: Anger is a sign that evokes aggressive behavior. Aggression can cause emotional, psychological, or physical damage to... and mental health. All these improvements are attributable to reductions in their aggressive behaviors due to educations.

Keywords: Aggression, Mental Health, Anger Management, Social Adjustment, College Students
Systematic risk (Beta) is one of the most effective factors in predicting the appropriate required rate of return of stocks. A study on the relationship between the variables of stock return, systematic risk, and trading volume was conducted. The results showed no significant relationship between the variables. Some suggestions regarding the topic of the research are given too.

In a study of 90 students from first graders in primary schools in Tehran City Area no 7 were chosen by means of randomized sample method. It was found that the level of creativity of students who were taught by the teachers who had been trained in this educational field was higher than those children that were taught by the teachers who had not been trained in this educational field.

Happiness affects employees' performance, increases productivity, improves quality of services and enhances it. This study examined the relationship between happiness and depression. The statistical methods used in this study were t-test and variance analysis that are carried out separately.

Providing useful information concerning company's profitability is an objective of accounting and financial reporting on the stock market. The current study examines the impact of transparency in financial reporting on the quality of earnings in companies listed in Tehran Stock Exchange. The results showed that the level of transparency in financial performance, earning quality, and transparency in financial reporting are not significant and to increase earning quality forecast, other variables must be measured.

This study examined the relationship between adult attachment style and marital satisfaction in a convenience sample of married people. Overall results suggest attachment avoidance as the strongest predictor of marital satisfaction. It is recommended that therapists working with couples focus on attachment styles in order to improve marital satisfaction.

The purpose of present study was to investigating the meditational role of emotional regulation in the relationship between attachment and academic adjustment. The results showed that emotional regulation, can rebound pure academic adjustment. Suggestions and implication for future research are also proffered.

Trust, Student, Hypocrisy, Integrity, Collaboration
Attachment Styles, Attachment Anxiety, Attachment Avoidance, Married People.

Stock Return, Systematic Risk, Trading Volume, Causality Test

The present study is conducted with the aim of comparing the amount of effectiveness of holistic versus traditional education enthusiasm instructed by integrative way is higher than control group instructed with traditional way.

The current study examines the impact of teachers' creativity training on growing creativity in students and their insights on teacher training curriculum. For this purpose, two groups were selected, and then the experimental group was trained in creativity, and the control group was taught by the traditional method. The results showed that paying attention to training of creativity in curricula of teachers' training centers. For this purpose, two groups (n = 90) students from fifth and sixth grades were selected by means of random sampling method. The experimental group was taught by the integrative method, and the control group was instructed with traditional way. The results showed that the level of creativity of students who were taught by the teachers who had been trained in this educational field was higher than those children that were taught by the teachers who had not been trained in this educational field.
Forecasted earnings provide significant information for investment and other financial statements users. In recent years, a study has been carried out to determine the factors affecting the accuracy of earning forecasts. The results showed that the factors affecting the accuracy of earnings forecasts include earnings informativeness, dividend policy, and financial crisis. The accuracy of earnings forecasts can be improved by considering these factors. The main purpose of this research is to identify and investigate the influence of institutional ownership on the growth opportunities and dividend policies. The study showed that there is a significant relation between institutional ownership and growth opportunities and dividend policies.

The present study has been carried out by aiming at a comparison between capabilities of female and male principals in primary schools. The results showed that there is a significant difference between female and male principals in variables of three-fold administrative skills including general, maturity, and leadership skills.

The current study is aimed to identify and examine the factors limiting development of virtual courses in Hormozgan University. The results showed that cultural factors, educational factors, and human factors are of great importance in the establishment of virtual courses.

The purpose of this research is to study the relation of the effective factors on decreasing tax assertiveness and tax diagnostic difference in Tehran Stock Exchange. The results showed that there is a positive relationship between the prior period adjustments and tax assertiveness and tax diagnostic difference in the companies.

This study aims to investigate the effect of cooperative learning on the confidence. This Study was a quasi-experimental study. The results showed that cooperative learning increases the confidence in girls more than boys.

The study of the influence of financial situation of companies on the earning forecast accuracy by managers of listed companies in Tehran Stock Exchange has been carried out. The results showed that factors such as earnings informativeness, dividend policy, and financial crisis have a significant effect on the accuracy of earning forecasts. The accuracy of earnings forecasts can be improved by considering these factors.

Study of Cultural – Social Factors Associated with Polygamy in the Bastak City, Iran has been carried out. The results showed that cultural and social factors are associated with polygamy in the Bastak City, Iran. It is recommended to conduct more research in this area to better understand the factors associated with polygamy in this city.

A study of the influence of family internal factors on the tendency of adolescent girls to internet addiction has been carried out. The results showed that there is a negative relation between internet addiction and openness communication, intra-generation cohesion, and role modeling. The study recommends improving family consolidation and child-parent relations to reduce internet addiction among adolescent girls.

Using Cross Efficiency with Symmetric Weights for the Method DEAHP has been carried out. The results showed that the method DEAHP with symmetric weights is more logical than the other methods. It is recommended to use this method in future studies.