The Effect of Different Types of Teachers' Written Corrective Feedback (Evaluative and Formative) on Students' Writing Performance

Debate about the value of providing corrective feedback on L2 Writing has been outstanding in recent years. Truscott (2001) claimed that the role of teacher feedback is to support the self-regulating processes of the learner, while writing students often need the teacher to provide corrective feedback on their writing. However, Iranian low proficiency student writers prefer the clarity of evaluative feedback which directly addresses their errors.
